Hurricane Hector-Update

Mayor Caldwell asks that we remain vigilant as Hurricane Hector approaches. The Central Pacific Hurricane Center forecasts Hector will pass south of the Big Island Tuesday evening to Wednesday morning and although the current track keeps the storm offshore, any change to a more northerly track could cause significant impacts to Oahu and the rest of the islands. The storm is expected to clear the region by Friday.

Make sure your 14-day hurricane kit is fully stocked, and check your lanai for any loose items or debris that could become projectiles during windy conditions.

The best way to stay directly informed about the threat from Hurricane Hector is to download the city's smartphone messaging app, HNL.info, which is also available as a website online.

\*Our Emergency Generator powers lights in the garage, emergency lights in hallways and will run one elevator.*
